Home News.

Leo Goldman has opened a branch store at Butte.

Mr. Murray, the Pinal saloonist, was in town yesterday.

A car-load of Silver King concentrates will be shipped from Casa Grande Monday.

The Silver King comes to the front with the regular monthly dividend again.

Mrs. Gus Schamp spent the past week in Florence the guest of the Misses Foreman.

Sheriff Paul, of Tucson, was here Thursday, looking after transgressors of the law.

Ben Van Vlack, the hoisting work of the Black Ben, was in town this week for repairs.

A large, new, triangular lamp illuminates the front of Wilson's corner these dark nights.

Six bars of bullion from Globe passed through here Saturday via Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express.

Sheriff Gabriel received a new safe Tuesday, for the sheriff's office. It is fire and burglar proof.

Several cases of measles have been reported in the valley this week, but none of them are serious.

Gus Schamp and family have moved up to Mineral Hill and opened a boarding house at the Seven Cottonwoods.

Postmaster Henry, of Cottonwood, was in town yesterday, on mining business. He "keeps the ball rolling."

Yesterday (Friday) was the Chinese New Year and the Celestials of this burg honored it with religious festivities.

We acknowledge a call from Mr. W. N. Tweed this week. He is pushing work on his copper claims near Dudleyville.

Mr. W. H. Merritt came in from the Jessie Benton mine Thursday, and reports continued improvement in the Jessie.

One of Treasurer Brady's little children has been dangerously ill for some days past, but we are pleased to hear, is improving.

Messrs. Smith and Davis, the Florence attorney, are at Tucson this week attending Supreme Court, in the interest of several clients.

Mr. Henry Watzlavzick, of the firm of Smith & Watzlavzick, came up from Casa Grande Monday, and remained here several days.

Buy the $40 gold, American stem-winder for sale at Uncle Harris', 221 Kearny street, between Bush and Sutter, San Francisco.

The Padre has placed in position at the ditch passing to the rear of the church, a new pump to supply water for irrigating the church grounds.

J. V. Wilson is preparing to open a stock of wines, liquors and cigars in his new building on Main street, and it is said, will deal out the elixir of life at a bit per drink.

Mr. Holbrook, teacher of the male primary school, is now subsisting on the healthy and economical diet of mush and milk, because of a well developed case of mumps in either jaw.

Henry Schousen has erected a neat little smoke-house in the rear of his meat market, in which to smoke bologna sausage. He is conducting his establishment in metropolitan style now.

Alex. Goodfellow, of Pinal, came down to Florence Tuesday, and was met here by a Tucson expert. They went up the river to examine some mining property the former is interested in.

Reymert is billed for a lecture at Globe on the 23d. We would suggest that he take for his subject, "Men whose physiognomy give them away," and cite himself as a striking example.

St. Valentine distributed his favors impartially and lavishly here, especially among the Florentines of the masculine gender. But Sam Bostick, the barber, won the "pot" in this game of draw.

We welcome as a resident of Florence, Mr. L. A. Bush, of San Francisco. He has accepted the post of honor at Henry Schousen's meat market, and is an experienced hand with the cleaver and knife.

J. W. Davis and Horace L. Smith, of Florence, were admitted to practice in the Supreme Court this week, the former on a certificate from the Supreme Court of New Jersey, and the latter on a certificate from the Supreme Court of Mississippi.

Mr. Aaron Mason received Saturday all the machinery necessary for the sinking of an artesian well, and will soon solve the problem of artesian water in this valley. The well will be sunk on his Florence ranch. The result will be waited with interest.

Arrangements are making for a ball to be held at the court-house hall, on the night of the 22d, in commemoration of the natal day of that juvenile woodman who didn't spare the tree. Our people should be out in force and make the affair a success.

The Florence Enterprise, a large weekly, comes to us this week exceedingly well filled with original and selected matter. The man at the helm of that Enterprise evidently has had much experience sailing on the journalistic sea—Phoenix Herald.

Johnny Moran left Monday for the Saucito mountains, to look after some claims he located there about four years ago. He found mineral in places on them at the time of the location, but was forced to leave them by demands for his attention from property in other districts.

Messrs. Abbott and Phelps came down from Pinal, Wednesday, well pleased with the mines of that county, and especially so with those in which the late Fordyce Phelps was interested. Mr. Abbott will probably make arrangements to handle some of the properties upon his arrival at the east.

Messrs. Mayfield and Tucker are driving a tunnel on the Lelo, at Mineral Hill. The tunnel will tap the ledge about seventy-five feet below the surface and is expected to uncover a good body of ore at that point. The claim is on the Pacific ledge and shows mineral in the croppings. The ledge will not be reached in the tunnel before the middle of next week.

O. Wilkinson, of Mineral Hill, left for Los Angeles Sunday, to complete the organization of a company to operate in the Old Hat and Mineral Hill district. Hon. Del Valle, Joseph Lynch, editor of the Los Angeles Herald, and several prominent citizens of that city are interested in the project, we understand. They could not invest their ducaats in a better field to insure a large return.

One Smith, a negro who had robbed a minersome weeks since, was arrested at Casa Grande Monday night, and is now a guest at Sheriff Gabriel's lodging house for criminals. In police parlance, he is a "hard game" and laid in limbo several months last summer on a charge of cattle stealing, but escaped through the accident of the prosecuting witness being killed before the sitting of the court. We hope he will get his just dues this time.

Messrs. Stone and Goodfellow, who went out last week to remove the debris from the old tunnel recently discovered on one of their claims lying ten miles from Florence, were forced to abandon the work by a rain-storm. They had no tent with them and did not consider it the proper time of year to take copious shower baths, so they adjourned. However they will return to the work soon properly equipped to stay.

General Manager Linkton, of the Pinal Consolidated, who has been in San Francisco some time past attending to business for the company, returned Monday and proceeded to Butte the next day. Mr. Linkton possesses fine executive ability and is directing the affairs of the company in a manner satisfactory to all concerned. He is also making friends by his gentlemanly treatment of people who have occasion to deal with him.

There has been considerable talk among the gentlemen here about the advisability of organizing a social dance club, but they seem not to have progressed beyond the mere discussion of the proposition. We are confident that such a club could be organized without difficulty, if those interested would only take hold in earnest. If they will meet at the Enterprise office this evening at 8 o'clock, we think some satisfactory plan of procedure can be arranged.

Mr. C. H. Wheeler and bride, nee Miss Bell White, arrived here from Ohio Wednesday, and went hence to Pinal, their future home. Mr. Wheeler went east about two months since, but gave no intimation of the good and rational intentions that led him thither, and the result of his journey was a surprise to his Florentine friends. We presume that congratulations are in order and ours are herewith tendered, together with a large budget of good wishes.

The citizens of Pinal are making preparations for a calico ball, to be held on the evening of the 22d, in aid of the project to build a new Catholic church at that place. An attractive feature of the occasion will be the voting of a prize to the lady wearing the handsomest calico dress. We are authorized by the management to extend an invitation to Florentines and all others who may desire to spend a pleasant evening and at the same time serve a worthy cause. Tickets admitting lady and gentleman, $5.

Two of the San Carlos Apache police were here Wednesday, on their way to the Pima reservation after two runaway squaws. It seems that the untutored daughters of the western wilds, since they were brought under the "civilizing" influences of Uncle Sam's Indian policy and agents, have acquired the habit of occasionally departing from their native heath for a lascivious "lark" in strange pastures. The Apache maidens were not guilty of such tricks before Uncle Sam's "educating" missionaries came in contact with them.

The supervisors of Pima county have let a contract to build a road from Tucson to the Old Hat district. The major part of this district lies within the borders of Pinal county, but we are not averse to having it opened up by our Pima neighbors. However, we shall enter a very long and loud protest in the event of our covetous neighbors moving for annexation of this valuable district to Pima county. Pinal is the smallest county in Arizona now in area, and will not surrender any more of her rich territory without desperate resistance.

The large new president's desk, ordered by Hinson Thomas, clerk of the board of supervisors and acting under instructions of the latter, arrived this week and has been placed in position in the supervisors' office. It combines beauty with utility in its construction, and hence makes a useful as well as attractive addition to the office furniture of the board. The smallness of the old desk and the large accumulation of books and records demanding desk room made the purchase of the desk a necessity. The cost of the latter was fifty dollars.

We acknowledge the receipt of a very handsome specimen of Black Ben ore sent by Mr. Geo. Evans, of Riverside. As we remarked last week, the Black Ben is one of the finest prospects in the county. The ore uncovered by present developments is very low grade, but grows richer with depth, and there is every reason to believe that good pay-rock will be found as soon as a solid foundation is reached. The ledge matter at the bottom of the present workings is very soft and the mineral is distributed through it in strata. The ledge has remarkable width and with an average of $25 per ton would be a veritable bonanza.

Mr. E. Parmelee has resigned his position as clerk of the District court, and Mr. T. W. Mosier has been appointed as his successor. The latter arrived here from Tombstone last week, and is on duty. He comes well recommended by the officials of Cochise county, both as to competency and character. Mr. Parmelee, we are pleased to know, intends to return to Florence in September, perhaps to remain permanently. He has conducted himself in a praiseworthy manner here and we regret that business interests should have called him, even temporarily, to another field. He left for the east yesterday.

The cells and other iron work for the new county jail have arrived at Casa Grande, and Messrs. Smith & Watzlavzick have the contract for delivering them from the depot to Florence at fifty cents per hundred. The combined weight is 17,000 pounds, and the freight from St. Louis to Casa Grande was a little over $700. The latter bill of expense was charged to Pauley Bros., as it was included in their bid. The contract for erecting the new jail building has been awarded to Charles Tillman at $1,689, as will be seen by the proceedings of the Board, published in another column. He will commence work at once and continue without interruption till his contract shall have been completed.

Grimes & Co., of Globe, who offered to build the wagon road from Riverside to Pinal, have notified the board of supervisors that, owing to a mistake they have not been able to secure the bond required. The board, upon receipt of this notice, granted an extension of time, allowing them to file said bond upon any day between now and April 1st. This is right and proper, but we fear the gentlemen will experience considerable difficulty in securing bondsmen, as their bid is too low. Competent judges declare that the road, over the route proposed and according to the terms of the plans and specifications, cannot be constructed at a less cost than $4,000, whereas the bid of Grimes & Co. is only $1,800. We hope, however, that they may succeed.

Among the good prospects in the near vicinity of Pinal, the Silverado and Hector, owned by Duran, Adams and Palmer, and the Resolute, by Mrs. Byers, are prominent. The first has a large, black, sparsely ledge, upon the foot-wall of which, in one of the shallow inclines, a rich streak of chloride ore shows. In a shaft a short distance from it the ore has a small percentage of copper, and here the pay-streak widens out to nearly three feet. The Resolute, which is much higher on the same ledge, has considerable development. The vein is traceable down the hill, and crops out on the mesa hundreds of feet below. The facilities for working are excellent; the abrupt pitch of the hill makes it possible to develop the vein at a depth of 200 feet by cutting a tunnel 200 feet long. The Hector is a carbonate vein pitching easterly, a very slight angle, and has some excellent ore in its workings. The mine is, like the Silverado, accessible, strong and of considerable prospective value.—Globe Silver Belt.

Mr. H. Holburn, who keeps a store at the south Pioneer camp, paid the ENTERPRISE a brief visit this week and gave us a few items concerning the district. The drift which was started from the main shaft of the South Pioneer some time since has progressed to a distance of eighty feet and shows a strong vein of very high grade ore. Developments at other points in the mine, he says, make equally as good a showing and that there is enough ore in sight to warrant the building of large reduction works. The pump recently put in operation keeps the mine clear of water, and forty men are at work pushing developments. Fifty men are at work on the company's wagon road leading over the summit toward Globe, and he thinks the road will be completed by the 1st of April. Developments on the Pioneer Center and the Great Republic are progressing rapidly and with flattering results. The camp is attracting considerable attention and bids fair to become a large and lively one soon. There is an abundant supply of good water and fuel at the camp, and plenty of timber suitable for lumber convenient.

Board of Supervisors.

MONDAY, Feb. 10, 1882, 12 m.
Board met pursuant to advertisement of January 10th, 1882, for the purpose of opening bids for building county jail.

The following bids were opened and read, the bidders named offering to build the jail as per specifications in advertisement of January 10th for the following respective sums: M. L. Moran and F. Morgan, $1,750; C. C. Dodson, $2,000; C. C. Tillman, $1,689.

Mr. Tillman being the lowest and best bidder and his bond in double the amount of bid, or $3,378, with Henry Schousen, J. V. Wilson and Peter Will as sureties having been presented and approved, C. W. Tillman was awarded the contract to erect the jail building in court-house yard, Florence, A. T., as per specifications above named, for the sum of $1,689, building to be completed on or before May 13th, 1882.

A communication was read from C. Grimes & Co., of Globe, stating that through a mistake they had not secured bond for the contract to build the road from Riverside to Pinal. Clerk was instructed to notify Messrs. Grimes & Co. that they would be given until April 1st, 1882, to file necessary bond.

Upon motion a warrant for $90 was ordered drawn out of court-house jail building fund in favor of P. C. Warner for work done in preparing ground for jail building.

Adjourned to meet Saturday, Feb. 18th, 1882, at 10 a. m.
HINSON THOMAS, Clerk

Purity.

PINAL, Feb. 14th, 1882.

Editor Enterprise:

Last week's edition of that patent-lined sheet, the Pinal Drill, demonstrated the fact beyond a doubt that its splenetic chief, like a volcano, or an abcess, has burst out afresh, for it blazoned forth to the whole civilized world in all the varieties of type that could be found on the premises that the inhabitants of Pinal—the Sodom of modern times—have been committing sacrilege, but that the city had not been destroyed because one righteous man was found, and he is the editor of the Drill. Now the denizens of the place, misguided, degraded and sacrilegious people being aware of the danger so providentially averted, just hover under the wings of this holy man, figuratively speaking, and look upon him with adoration as being God's attorney, or they would have hovered around him had he permitted, but he gave them no chance, leaving town before the ambrosial leaves of the Drill were scattered broadcast over this wicked world—he being a modest man—and the penitent sinners thus miraculously escaping the dire vengeance that would have fallen upon them, all lamenting the separation.

Before the time of conviction of such sins, previous to the realization of the fact that they had so unjustly desecrated the temples of the Deity, prior to the knowledge of this man's being such a saint, precedent to being convinced of their violation of sacred things, these hardened wretches thought and acted in this wise: The church needed an organ, and there was a committee selected from the residents of the town to raise funds to purchase this musical instrument. For this purpose this committee, most of the members of which are not members of the church, made arrangements to give a concert. The concert was given, sufficient funds were raised to make the purchase, and during two evenings the people filled the church and listened to the music and recitations and witnessed the penitential prayers that were made. All, except one, thought that the entertainment was a good one, and only one solitary person among so many had a mind so pure that he was enabled to detect an impurity. When he, this emblem of immaculate purity, this oracle of the Drill, expressed himself, the people thought it was a vile and spiteful outburst, a disgraceful and uncalculated attack upon the clergyman who officiates in this church, and whom all appreciate, esteem and respect, and who did not know what the programmes of the evenings were to be until they, piece by piece, were announced to the audience.

When this vituperative, slanderous and vindictive article made its appearance in the columns of the Drill, the Pinalites, like the ancient Trojans when they had captured the "wooden horse," stood around with mouths agape and eyes distended wondering at the size of the beast and what could be the cause of this.

Some thought it was because the Drill did not have the job of printing the programmes; others surmised that the reason was that the worthy and sanctified editor could not get a reserved seat, and the house was full and had to sit with the "footlights;" others yet saw a different cause and this was it: this purified, saintly and unblemished spirit of spotless virtue received but one complimentary notice, and got justly indignant because another was not furnished for the admission of his niece (O. Ye God, what effrontery! for there were among this blind and stiff-necked generation some who had so little veneration for and appreciation of this symbol of godliness, some self-righteous ones who were egotistic enough to consider themselves better than the Drill man and who had the assurance to consider his coming among them, in the way he did, an act of impudence and shameless audacity, and who were unwilling to be convinced that he was the soul of stainless honor and upright principles, the type of rectitude and morality. Opinions have changed, and now those who were wont to regard this pious man as an atom in the chain of degradation see him in his true light. Estimation of character is reversed, and what formerly were considered features of gross passion are now seen to be the effulgent beams of sanctity, iridescent rays of religion and holiness.—Cum grano salis. Hanged in Effigy.

PINAL, A. T., Feb. 17, 1882.

ED. ENTERPRISE—J. DeNoon Reymert, Esq., editor of the Drill, was hanged in effigy, last night, in front of his office, for publishing a lying, libelous and scandalous article in his paper about the resident M. E. minister. CON.
